Dear Rutgers faculty,

In these chaotic times, we understand that it is hard to focus on writing and your other professional goals. Rutgers Office for Faculty Development is here to help. We have converted some of our most relevant programming into virtual offerings for the remainder of the semester. The full list is below and available on the faculty development website. We hope you find something to help you!

Also, please let us know how else we can help you now and in the coming months: Take the OFD Faculty Support Survey.

If you have any questions, please contact us at rufacultydevelopment@oq.rutgers.edu.
